PRIVATE DALZELL, in a letter to the Bo ton Traveller, says he knows personally nearly every Republican Senator and Rep resentative elected to the Ohio Legisla ture, and that nearly every one of them was chosen expressly to vote for Garfield for United States Senator.

At the recent primary elections of the Republicans at New Orleans the tickets bore at the head the picture of Grant, with the incription, "Here comes the man on horseback." The picture took with the colored people, and they deposited their ballots with great enthusiasm.

The Convention approved of the set creating the Mississippi River Commission, and disclaimed, while asking for appropriations, having any prescribed plan for improvement, butfavored leaving that matter entirely to the judgment and experience of the able corps of ongineers of the Work of improvement in charge. It also favored the establishment of a reservoir system, such as has been suggested by General Warren, on the waters of the Upper Mississippi- Congress was called upon to pass an act forbidding the construction of private wharves, or the depositing in any navigable streams anything that would aid in the formation of sand bars or any obstruction to the majorities are thought of the rivers or the was private. It also favored the appointment of a permanent commission, to be composed of three members from each State bordering upon those rivers, to be appointed by the Governor of the respective States, to promote the improvement of the rivers. The President of the Convention was instructed to select an executive committee of nine—himself to be one of the members—whose duty it shall be to prepare a memorial to Congress, setting forth more in detail the views of the Convention upon the subject of improving the Mississippi and its tributaries; to call future conventions if deemed expedient; to collect and publish statistics, and to use such means as may be likely to procure early and favorable action by Congress upon this subject. The foregoing is the substance of the resolutions presented by the majority of the committee through its Chairman, Mr. S. E. Covingion. Judge Murphy, of Iowa presented a minority report, confining the application for appropriation to the Mississippi, the Missouri and the Ohio rivers, leaving out all tributaries, which he warmly supported, assist

A resolution was stopted asking Congress to rescind wholly the license dues now exacted from masters, pilots, mates, and engineers of steam vessels, the only class of our citizens now taxed for the privilege of pursaing their vocations. The convention was quite harmonious, and its action will, no doubt, be productive of good. Many of the speeches were very able and full of valuable information. PRESIDENT HAVES AND WIFE

Called Out of Their Car at Barnesville Popularity of Mrs. Hayes, arnesville Enterprise.

The announcement was made last Mon day that President Hayes and wife, and their son Webb, would pass through Barnesville on the five o'clock train, en route to Washington. The news drew a large crowd of men and women to the depot and along the path which leads up town, all anxious to get a glimpse of the President and the first lady of the Republic. The train came in on time, and the crowd seeing a special car attached to the rear of the train, made a rush in that direction. The President at once appeared on the platform, bare-headed, with his face more ruddy with health than ever, and looking much younger and better than when he passed through here a year ago. The cares of the State seem to sit lightly upon him, but we must remember that he is just returning from a long and pleasant vacation; from an enjoyable trip through the West, and a pleasant reunion with old friends in Ohio. A crowd quickly gathered around him and the care of the state seem to sit lightly upon him, but we must remember that he is just returning from a long and pleasant vacation; from an enjoyable trip through the West, and a pleasant reunion with old friends in Ohio. of settling in Virginia have been turned toward the West by reports of the bad condition of society in the Old Dominion, such reports having been started by the efforts of the "readjusters" there to repudiate the State debt.

From the Berlin correspondence of the London Times: "Princes Bismarck's countrymen have just given a signal proof that, though the way they are asked to tread is dark, and therefore dangerous, their faith in their great political leader is boundless, and it must sweeten the rural holiday which his Highness has left Berlin for Varzin to enjoy to reflect that his popularity is still increasing and that his future path is now clear."

The "malicious report" that Prince Napoleon's late visit to Italy had reference to a divorce sought by his wife, the Princess Clotilde, is formally contradicted by the Rome Stella d' Ralia. "Duty and the virtue of sacrifice," says this journal, significantly, "are ancient traditions with the princesses of the House of Savoy. Never has the pious daughter of Victor Emmanuel thought of breaking the alliance which rendered her a mother, and it is not now, when the hopes of a party of a great country are turned toward her husband and her children, that Princess Clotilde would think of deserting her post."

Louistana's finances are in a shocking condition. Many of the State officers and employes have not been paid for six months, and all the cash the State Treasurer had to divide the other day among $126,000 of general fund warrants for the current year was $5,000. Only about $000 has been collected in the last four months, also, to sasisfy $235,000 of last year's warrant evistandine." The River Improvement Convention, which met at Quincy, III., last week, was largely attended by representative men from thirteen States bordering upon the Western rivers. It was presided over by Governor E. O. How They Voted at the Late Election. Noble county cast 2,204 votes for Foster and 1,824 for Ewing-a Republican majority of 380, and a gain of 201 since last year. Harrison county gave Foster 529 majority. The vote for the county is 185 larger than in 1876. The Republican county ticket is elected. Carver, for Sheriff, has only 76 majority over Howard. Ritchie County (W. Wa.) Gazette. Dan Voorhees is a United Senator, but he is a conceited puppy for all that. If he were not this, he would never have said, as he he did during his speech, lately, at Bellaire, Ohio, that he had whipped the Republican party of Indiana, until it did not dare to look up. Indiana, until it did not dare to look up. The Republican party of Indiana has been in the minority slightly lately, and has been outvoied, but it is not such a spaniel to acknowledge such a master as Dan Voorhees. That is a nice way in a country like this, with Republican institutions, for a person who has but one vote, to talk about a great minority, that is likely at any election to carry the State, and reverse the political situation. No really intelligent man would speak as Voorhees spoke at Bellaire, unless in a moment of weakness, or while he was drunk. Dan was not intoxicated, and he has no attacks of weakness—he is that way all the time. as he he did during his speech, lately, at

On entirely reliable information we are able to announce that Dan Theobold and George Muth have so far abandoned the ocratic party as to unite with the Bepublicans in their jollification on Saturday evening. It is not only true that they took part in that jubilee, but being of the class that never do things in a halfway, manner—as witness their magnificent four white horse demonstration with Thurman—they were not content to join the procession as ordinary Republicans did, but dressed from head to foot in calloo dresses, and mounted on prancing chargers, they became at once the most conspicuous objects in the whole demonstration. This audden transition from red-hot Democrats to joilifying Republicans is some what remarkable, and has taken some of their former partisans by surpublicans in their jollification on Saturday some of their former partisans by sur-prise. We are now somewhat alarmed for fear the whole Democratic party will want to join the Republican party before the next campaign, and we shall then be without any opposition.
